

Water, Water Skit

Script:

A scout crawls slowly across the stage, as if he were dragging himself across the hot, sandy desert. It's best if he has long, really mussed up hair.

Scout 1: Water, water!

(another scout walks by and scout #1 begs...)

Scout 1: Water, water!

Scout 2: Sorry, dude, I don't have any. (and he walks off stage)

(repeat having other scouts walk by as scout #1 works his way across the stage, stopping each one and receiving an ad lib response.)

(finally, scout #1 sees a cup or bucket of water ahead of him.)

Scout 1: Water! Hallelujah!

(He quickly drags himself to it. When he gets there, he quickly stands up, pulls out his comb, dips it in the water, combs his hair, and walks offstage whistling.)

Find more Scouting Resources at www.BoyScoutTrail.com